

The Airl radio network is much too important to risk losing to LPFM stations. It provides a positive message on the air waves that is not heard from other stations. It is a station that plays uplifting music and is never offensive or crass. I love this station and would hate to see it bumped off the airwaves by an LPFM station that would most likely be similar in content to the other stations on the air. Airl is different, it's refreshing and it would be a shame to replace it with any other station. The positive, encouraging message that Airl sends to its listeners is needed in the world that we live in, it helps many through tough times and is a light in a world of darkness. Please consider the negative affects that removing this station will have on those who will no longer be able to listen to it. I would rather listen to no radio at all than to another station.
